

ORGANIC GARDENING COURSES

Do you want to protect the environment and have better health?

Do you want to create a child friendly garden at home. A place where children can discover, experiment and learn about science in their own backyards?

Expand your food choices, use fresh home grown food to stay well. No food is more local than that which you grow in your own backyard, So let one of Dee's home grown gardening courses show you how to develop small scale intensive systems in your own organic garden.

She can help you get your children involved by growing tasty fresh pick your own berries, peas, beans and fruit.

With the help of liquid manures, compost, sheet mulching and intercropping, Dee gets 4 crops a year out of her organic vegetable garden, while 30 fruit trees on her quarter acre section provides fruit all year round. Dee keeps half a dozen hens for fresh eggs and can help you introduce these friendly birds into your home garden.

Join award winning sustainable gardener Dee Pignéguy in her Auckland garden and find out how.

A practical workshop with gardening teacher Dee Pigneguy to inspire and up-skill potential home gardeners. Each workshop is based on garden jobs and planting related to the season.

Keen to get a lush productive home garden going but unsure how to start?

Got your garden started but not sure how to keep things going?

Seasonal gardening courses 2011, with a down-to-earth gardening expert.

Course dates:

See www.feedmeright.co.nz/gardencourses.html for the latest course dates.

Courses will cover:

- What to plant in season for fresh organic produce
- Working on the backyard autumn garden
- Planting for winter
- How to keep your garden producing through the seasons
- Keeping your garden producing
- What should I plant now
- Composting, Worm Farming, Liquid Manures, Organic Sprays
- Seed sowing, transplanting, using cloches and watering
- How to use all those vegetables
- Insects in the garden. The Beneficial Garden. Growing Herbs.
- Making Tussie Mussies (fun flower posies)

Courses followed up with in-home support from Dee, who is an experienced gardener and author of Growing Gardeners and co-author along with daughter Tamarin of Feed Me Right.

Courses suitable for Teachers in charge of developing school gardens.

Very limited places available, bookings essential.

Please register by phoning Dee:

on 09-444 9342 or email: dee@feedmeright.co.nz

Held at Dees property:

203 Manuka Road, Glenfield, Auckland, New Zealand.

Cost: $40 including morning tea and fresh garden salad for lunch.

Dee's books available for purchase:

Gardening for Planet Earth $25 and Feed Me Right $25.

FEED ME RIGHT

Share in Dee's passion for organic gardening, cooking and nutrition

Contact

Dee Pignéguy

dee@feedmeright.co.nz

www.feedmeright.co.nz

+64 9 444 9342